WOOD FIRE GRILLS

REAL WOOD FIRE, RUN LIKE AN OVEN

Memphis grills burn 100% hardwood pellets and hold the temperature you set on their own, so one stainless grill can smoke low and slow, roast, bake, grill and sear over open flame. They're made in the USA, on a cart or as a head that builds into an outdoor kitchen, with Wi-Fi control from a phone.

Signature carries the Pro, the Elite and the modular Elevate, with the drawers, doors, covers and accessories to finish them, and supports dealers from the first drawing to service.

SET THE TEMPERATURE; THE FIRE DOES THE REST

A Memphis feeds pellets from the hopper into a burn pot, lights them with hot air and uses fans to move heat and smoke around the food like a convection oven. The controller adjusts the feed to hold the temperature in any weather.

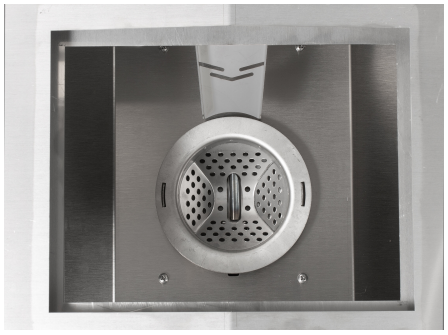

TOUCHSCREEN CONTROL
Set the temperature and up to three meat probes; the grill drops to 180°F when the food is done.

DIRECT FLAME
Pull the insert and sear over open fire, on Low, Medium or Max.

SMOKE
Smoke mode runs from 180 to 295°F; cooking mode takes over from 300°F up.

BURN POT
Pellets burn in a pot under the grates, with a secondary burn for a cleaner fire.

STAINLESS GRATES
Extra grate levels add cooking space; a pizza stone and cast iron plate go on the grates.

WI-FI
Set temperatures, watch the probes and see the cook's history from the app.
